SAY "I DO" WITH PORTACOOOL

When Tim and Lee Allport renewed their vows in June 2015, they knew they would need something to provide their guests relief from the relentless Florida heat. They found their answer in Portacool portable evaporative coolers.

Here are a few of their comments:

As a Florida girl myself I was worried that I was going to absolutely melt at an outdoor wedding in June. I was pleasantly surprised to not only not melt – but to be comfortable the entire time thanks to the Portacool. They were unobtrusive and super quiet. As someone looking to plan my own wedding soon, I am excited to have options for an outdoor wedding – even in the summertime!

I'm a Florida girl and the heat and me "go way back". It was so nice to have somewhere to go to cool off where I didn't miss out on the action. And, yes, I knew RIGHT where to be during the reception. They say "no parking on the dance floor," but I may have broken that rule just a tad. It was too fun not to!

I will use this thing constantly. My husband, Tim just used it to do yard work over the weekend. We offer it to our elderly neighbor when he works in his yard.

- Lee

The couple used four Portacool Cyclone™ 3200 evaporative coolers, which cool approximately 700 square feet each. Unlike a fan that simply moves hot, stagnant air around, Portacool evaporative coolers actually cool the air. The American-made products require a standard electrical outlet and tap water to provide cooling comfort. Depending on your ambient temperature and humidity levels, they can provide as much as to a 30 degree temperature drop.
